BUILD YOUR MARINE RESEARCH FUTURE WITH EUROMARINE

Become a founding member of the EuroMarine Young Scientist Working Group: expand your opportunities by developing the role of early career scientists in an established network together with leading marine scientists across Europe. Provide direct input into its activities to ensure it responds to your needs. Champion the role of young scientists in tomorrow's marine landscape.

Young scientists (PhD students or individuals in their first post-doctorate contract) from a EuroMarine Full Member Organisation or a Permanent Invited Member are invited to join a responsive panel representing EuroMarine Member Organisations to develop the network's capacity to improve the marine landscape for early career scientists.

Apply by 16 February 2018
